The global pandemic that began in 2020 brought challenges and emotions to each of us in different ways. Many people spend time outside to help them feel better when they are stressed. In what ways did trees and nature help you feel better during this time of uncertainty? Share with us some things you do in nature anytime you feel anxious, sad, or scared that bring you joy or comfort.

The benefits of trees are endless and we want to highlight how they make you happy through your unique and beautiful artwork! Prizes will be awarded and mailed to the top three winners in four age group categories.
