ALEXANDRIA — After a blowout loss to Southwood on Thursday, Argylls head coach Brian Trout wrote one word on the whiteboard and questioned it. "Pride?"

With the odds against them, facing the Tigers in Alexandria, Madison-Grant played with its pride on its sleeve to stun the Tigers, 71-65. After the win, a teary eyed Trout could only say one thing about his team, how proud he was of them.

"Man, I'm so proud of these kids," Trout said. "After a no-show at Southwood, we had a heart-to-heart, and I questioned their pride. Tonight they stepped up. We couldn't play any better than we did tonight."

While the game was close throughout, it was a lights out second half that locked in the game for Madison-Grant. After turning over the ball 13 times in the first half, the Argylls cut that number down to just six in the second. Strong offense converted to defense as the team forced six Alex turnovers and limited the Tigers to 39 points in the second half.

"We just attacked," Trout said. "We were just being a little too passive, and we weren't meeting our passes at times. We talked about at halftime how we can't be
