What have you done since graduating from Port Allegany High School?

Since graduation, I married Rick Johnson, moved to Hawaii for 4 years before settling our 3 children back in our home town of Port Allegany. While in Hawaii I continued my dance education at The Rosalie Woodsen Dance Academy located in Aiea, Hawaii. I remain a student of the Art by means of conventions and workshops.

In 1985 I opened my own studio which is still going strong. I am also proud to announce the birth of my first grandchild, Trey Jr. who lives in Philadelphia with his parents Trey (my youngest son) and Tina Johnson. My daughter Kylie lives in Mercersburg, Pa and works in Hagerstown, Maryland. Brett, my oldest child lives and works in Schenectady, N.Y.

Where do you currently live?

Port Allegany, Pa

Who was your favorite teacher in high school? Why were they your favorite?

I would be remiss if I didn't mention my all-time favorite. He was not a high school teacher but my elementary physical education teacher Jerry Stayer. He would spend extra time teaching me acro pairing and I learned that I could trust him and myself.

I do have a favorite teacher who taught 7th grade math. Clara Sweeney made math fun, especially for a student like myself that was not very good at the subject yet pulled off a perfect score on the mid-term.

What is your fondest memory of Port Allegany High School?

My fondest memory of Port Allegany High School has to be the many hours in the gym on early Saturday mornings for what we called recreation. Half of the gym would be set up with tumbling mats and balance beam, trampoline, rings, uneven bars, etc. The other part normally would have a basketball game going on half court.
