

4-10-20

My morning started with answering a few questions from parents. I answered a few texts/emails from my team.

At 10 am my day brightened significantly! I Zoomed with 6 of my students. I got to see their faces. It was amazing. I had to stop and regroup because I started to cry. We talked for about a half hour and then the kids talked with each other for a while. You could see how excited they were. I asked them when they wanted to Zoom again and they yelled "tomorrow!" haha I said tomorrow Saturday, how about Monday morning. So we agreed Monday it is. I immediately scheduled that. I will do some review with them on Monday. Yeah!!!

Spent the rest of the afternoon checking email and messages...

I look forward to Monday. I hope more kiddos are able to join!
