Joe Germaine Returns to Queen Creek High School as Head Football Coach

Queen Creek, AZ - Queen Creek High School (QCHS) Athletic Director Paul Reynolds has announced that Joe Germaine will return as head coach of the QCHS football team. Germaine will resume his head coaching responsibilities starting with the 2019 - 2020 school year. Current head coach, Travis Schureman will return to coaching the team's offensive line.

Coaches Schureman and Germaine joined the Bulldog family in 2010. Germaine was head coach, Schureman was offensive line coordinator. Schureman then became head coach in 2013 when Germaine stepped down to become more involved at his regular job, Axon Sports. As head coach, Schureman led the team to eight consecutive playoff appearances. Also under his leadership, the team grew from a 4A school to a 5A then 6A school. Back in 2012, Germaine led QCHS to a Division III Championship. Both men were high school teammates at Mesa Mountain View when the team won the 1993 state football championship.

"We have good systems in place at Queen Creek High and I look forward to putting those systems in place to help our players be the best players they can be," said Coach Schureman.

"I am excited to once again be a part of the Queen Creek family," said Coach Germaine. "Travis led the team to a 6A standing and I look forward to working with him to build upon the foundation that he has set."

Both Schureman and Germaine played college football. Germaine played NFL football for the St. Louis Rams and the Kansas City Chiefs. The Arizona Cardinals named Schureman 'High School Coach of the Week' three years in the row.
